

Signs of mild stability

Market Review

Malaysia: The FBM KLCI (+0.1%) edged mildly higher, taking cue from the positive developments on Wall Street, coupled with mild bargain hunting activities in oversold stocks. The lower liners also turned upbeat, while the construction and sector that added 1.6% each outperformed the mostly positive sectorial peers.

Global markets: Wall Street edged mildly higher on a choppy trading session as the Dow added 0.1%, driven by the extended rally in mega-cap technology stocks. The European stockmarkets, however, were downbeat, while Asia stockmarkets ended mostly positive.

The Day Ahead

The FBM KLCI edged higher, buoyed by selected Petronas-related, telecommunications and banking heavyweights. Ahead of the US Fed FOMC and the US CPI data, regional markets and Wall Street were largely trading in the positive territory, anticipating that the US Fed could be keeping the interest rates at this level in view of softening of the US CPI print. We believe the gains last week may continue to spillover to our local bourse, but gains might be capped ahead of the 6 states elections. Commodities wise, the Brent crude oil traded above USD74, while the CPO price hovered above RM3,350.

Sector focus: Given the advancement in Wall Street Nasdaq supported by optimism over potential pause in interest rate hike, we reckon the technology sector may see a further rebound. Besides, investors may favour the plantation sector following Malaysia and Indonesia's mutual agreement to defend oil palm interest.

FBMKLCI Technical Outlook

Bloomberg

The FBM KLCI rebounded and booked marginal gains following a two-day decline. Technical indicators however, remained negative as the MACD Histogram extended a negative bar, while the RSI hovered below the oversold 30 level. Next resistance is pegged along 1,400-1,440, while the support is located around 1,370.
